Gary C. Harvat, Manager of Business Development and Marketing Receives Accreditation as Certified Medical Transport Executive

PITTSBURGH, PA – Quick Med Claims announced that Gary C. Harvat, Manager of Business Development and Marketing for the organization has successfully completed the Medical Transport Leadership Institute's (MTLI) rigorous two-year training program and has received accreditation as a Certified Medical Transport Executive (CMTE).

MTLI began in 1997 and is administered under the auspices of the Association of Air Medical Services (AAMS) and provides continuing education and certification for individuals currently managing medical transportation services and others with direct and indirect involvement.

The Institute operates with a rigorous approach to competency-based education, utilizing formal classroom hours, mandatory student participation, written testing, oral presentations and a code of professional conduct. Graduates successfully completing the two year program receive accreditation as a Certified Medical Transport Executive.

MTLI has attracted attendees from over 49 states and the District of Columbia, and 8 international locations over its twenty years of existence.

Mr. Harvat now joins other Quick Med Claims leadership who have successfully completed the MTLI program including Edward Marasco, VP of Business Development and Heidi Campbell, Billing Director.
